LAW
CONFERENCE
CREATING PRECEDENCE

The International Malaysia Law Conference ("IMLC"), a flagship event of the Malaysian Bar, has its origins in the Malaysian Law Conference, which began in 1971.

The inaugural Malaysian Law Conference was declared open by the then-Prime Minister of Malaysia, Tun Abdul Razak Hussein, on 15 July 1971. With the rapid advancement of the Malaysian economy and the meteoric rise of Asia, the Malaysian Law Conference evolved to keep up with the times.

In 2012, the Malaysian Law Conference was re-branded as the International Malaysia Law Conference, a turning point in the history of the series, establishing a new paradigm in the present era of increased globalisation.

The IMLC logo consists of a segmented circle with gradients of shades of blue. The breaking sections of the circle represent how the law affects, and is affected by, three large sectors: government, economy and society. The emblem symbolises a congregation of minds and sharing of ideas in one fluid and dynamic environment.

Maintaining Core Principles in a Time of Change

In an age of rapid change, there is a crucial need to preserve foundational principles. Doing so would ensure that while there is uninterrupted and enduring progress in society, that progress remains grounded on the core values on which it was built. Here is where the law comes in, serving as a central platform for safeguarding these principles amid constant change and advancement across diverse spheres of society.

Anchored in the theme — "Maintaining Core Principles in a Time of Change" — IMLC 2026 aims to explore the role of law in preserving first principles in the face of societal transformation, technological advancements, shifting geopolitical and global trade dynamics, and evolving demands within legal practice. The Conference will feature thematic streams addressing these issues, with discussions led by judges, legal and corporate professionals, policymakers, and key stakeholders from both domestic and international communities.

IMLC 2026 will feature the following session streams: "Legal Profession and Professional Practice", "Law and Society" and "Corporate and Commercial Law". On top of that, the Conference will feature two dedicated segments focusing on international law and young lawyers.
