Dear Members,

Jurisk!* June 2026 | Practice, Time Management and Company Work

The Jurisk! June 2026 issue features articles on operational management, time management and company work.

Under the Operational Management section, we trace a lawyer's journey from operating a solo practice to expanding to an eight-lawyer firm, and explore why file management, professional indemnity coverage and succession planning are survival essentials rather than optional extras. The topics under this section include assessing your firm's liability exposure and insurance adequacy, safeguarding against cyberattacks and phishing scams, building an effective file management and retention system, and planning for leadership succession in small firms, as well as guidance on topping up your Professional Indemnity Insurance limits to protect your firm's balance sheet.

The Time Management section zeroes in on the deadlines that make or break a case. The articles under this section cover limitation periods and time bars under the Limitation Act 1953, in addition to a step-by-step overview of the civil litigation process from filing to appeal.

The Company Work section features an article on the risks involved in closing down a company, weighing the speed of striking off against the certainty of a voluntary winding-up, and includes the ELEVATE Tools Spotlight on the General Corporate Law Checklist for pre- and post-appointment matters.
