Improving leadership skills among lawyers will not just create a positive ripple in law firms, but also enhance interaction with clients and colleagues. The Bar Council, in collaboration with the Association of Women Lawyers, Malaysia ("AWL"), is conducting a half-day workshop to develop your skills to become a better leader in your law firm, as well as a more effective and empowered member of the legal community.

This interactive session will deliver:

- an understanding of personal and professional leadership;
- a glimpse of the realities of leadership deficits; and
- insights into practical skills needed to strengthen leadership abilities.

Through this workshop, you will be enabled to implement concrete steps to build a more successful law firm that thrives on respect, fairness and dignity for all.

AWL is a non-governmental organisation responsible primarily for the promotion of the rights, welfare and professional development of women lawyers and law graduates in Malaysia. It aims to work towards the elimination of discrimination and ensure full and equal participation of women in the legal profession and related fields. AWL is part of the Joint Action Group for Gender Equality, a coalition dedicated to promoting gender equality and ending gender discrimination.

About the Speaker

Nooreen Preusser, BSc (Hons), BA, MSc, is the Director and Lead Facilitator of Silvis. She specialises in corporate training to strengthen performance, management and leadership ability. Along with a multi-disciplinary academic background rooted in Science and Arts, she also holds certifications as a neuro-linguistic programming ("NLP") practitioner, child rights educator and language instructor. Nooreen also successfully completed gender studies in Germany and brings a gender perspective to all her work. Her diverse professional background includes quantitative and qualitative research, founding a theatre, education programme management, and extensive interactive training of adults and teenagers.

Nooreen is Canadian but has been based in Kuala Lumpur since 2007. For almost 20 years, she has successfully trained and coached people in Europe and Southeast Asia on subjects that range from relationship dynamics and self-awareness to leadership skills.

The passion that drives Nooreen is her keen interest in sharing awareness and understanding to allow people to enhance their personal growth and to achieve their full potential. And, whenever she can, Nooreen pursues her interests in travel, art as well as theatre, and she loves to read literature — preferably on a beach.
